

What is 3D PRINTING?

What is 3D Printing? A guide to the technology that can make anything

Friday, October 12

7:00 PM to 8:00 PM

The idea that a machine the size of a microwave could create almost anything you imagine may sound like science fiction, but it is completely possible with the power of 3D printing. 3D printers are on the rise, revolutionizing industries and making their way into schools and even homes. In this presentation, 3D printing veteran Aidan Leitch will take you through the past, present, and future of the technology, breaking down how it works and how you can use it to make anything.
